

Brady Hussey

Covington Catholic High School

Brady Hussey is a two-sport all-star senior at Covington Catholic High School, excelling in both tennis and basketball. He once was named to the state all-tournament team in each sport in the same year, the only CovCath athlete to achieve this honor.

Recently, Brady was named by the Kentucky Lions Eye Foundation as the winner of the 11th annual Wah Wah Jones Award, recognizing a male high school senior multi-sport athlete who exemplifies the essence of a student-athlete. The award is named after Wallace Clayton "Wah Wah" Jones, who was an all-state player in basketball, baseball and football at Harlan County and the University of Kentucky. Brady was also named first-team all-NKAC Div. I, with more honors to follow.

From a long-line of elite tennis players in his extended family, Brady is a three-time regional champion and 9th Region Player of the Year. He led the team to the state championship in 2023 and twice he has been a state semi-finalist in singles. CovCath also had a lengthy tennis legacy – going into this season, the Colonels had won 19 straight regional team titles.

Brady's mom, Kara Molony Hussey along with his aunt, Lyndsey Molony Maynard, were doubles state champions in 1997, and Kara is a member of the University of Cincinnati Athletic Hall of Fame and the Bearcats all-time winningest player. His aunt Molly Molony Greene was also a state doubles champion in 2001. Brother Austin is a four-time 9th Region singles champion and a 2013 state champion. He played collegiately at the University of Kentucky and the University of North Carolina-Wilmington. Younger brother, Blake, is a high school freshman who plays basketball and is a top tennis prospect.

In basketball, Brady was the second-highest scorer on the CovCath team, averaging about 14 points a game. He also led the team in three-point shots made on the season and field goal percentage. And was also the second-leading rebounder on the team. He is a 1,000+ point career scorer for the Colonels, who were regional semi finalists this season, finishing with a 26-6 record.

"Brady Hussey is a competitor. He has the highest standards and expectations of himself as an athlete. As a tennis player Brady uses finesse and strength. But his default is strength. Brady has been a joy to coach."
